Sen. Taft Raps State Dept. On Secret Papers

Says Top Officials Consider Amerasia Case Too Lightly

WASHINGTON, April 19 — (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) charged today influential forces in the State Department had "refused to regard the delivery of (government) papers to Communists as a serious offense."

Taft fired this blast at unnamed diplomatic officials in a weekly report to Ohio voters in which he discussed the 1945 Amerasia magazine case and other matters. He also demanded that a senate foreign relations subcommittee make "an independent, affirmative investigation" of charges made by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.).

McCarthy has been charging for weeks that the State Department is and has been a haven for Communists and fellow travelers.

He has especially tried to link John S. Service, consular officer, and Owen Lattimore, Far Eastern specialist, with the Amerasia case. Service was one of six persons who were arrested on charges of slipping war secrets to the editors of Amerasia, a publication specializing in articles on the Far East.

A grand jury refused to indict Service. Three persons were indicted on lesser charges, two of whom were fined. The case against the third of those indicted was dropped.

In his report to Ohio voters, Taft combined a new defense of McCarthy with an attack on the subcommittee's procedure and on State Department actions and policies.

In the latter connection, he said there was evidence in the Amerasia case that secret documents were delivered "to a magazine office which had strong Communist connections."

"Some of those concerned were let off with fines and another one (Service) was reinstated in the State Department," Taft said, adding:

"In other words, influential forces in the State Department at best refused to regard the delivery of papers to Communists as a serious offense. The long pro-Communist record of Far Eastern division raises the same doubt."

Taft said it isn't true, as charged by some, that "Senator McCarthy is deliberately and publicly accusing prominent citizens of Communist connection for political purposes."

Asserting the subcommittee headed by Senator Tydings (D-Md) was instructed by the senate to make an investigation of McCarthy's charges, Taft said that hadn't been done yet.

"The majority seem to have been more interested in hampering Senator McCarthy than in carrying out the investigation," Taft said.

Taft noted that the subcommittee had hired two Republican lawyers as co-counsel.

However, one of these, Frederick Ayer, Jr., quit yesterday because he said that Tydings had made it clear "he considers it unwise and not in the public interest" for Ayer to accept the appointment.

Smash Slot Machines From Jungle Inn

WARREN, April 19 — (AP)—The job of smashing approximately $35,000 worth of slot machines and other gambling equipment started today in a Warren salvage yard.

State liquor enforcement agents confiscated the equipment last August from the Jungle Inn in Hall's Corners, Trumbull county. The wrecking party was ordered by Common Pleas Judge William McLain.

The order was appealed, but the appellate court upheld the decision last month.

Foes Of Grand River Plan Await Rep. Fulton Testimony

WASHINGTON, April 19 — (AP)—Opponents of the proposed Mahoning - Grand river floodway accused the army engineers today of withholding evidence given by backers of the project.

Foes of the floodway plan called Rep. Fulton (R-Pa) to back their accusations at a hearing before the Army Board of Engineers For Rivers and Harbors.

Sherman T. Rock, counsel for the Upper Ohio Valley Association, which opposes the floodway project, contends the board has taken testimony supporting the plan in the form of secret documents filed by the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

Calling Fulton to testify, Rock said in a statement:

"The board has steadfastly refused to allow us to examine these documents on grounds that they contain confidential information."

"We challenge the board's right to consider testimony that is available only to those who presented it. We should have the right to examine any evidence the board receives, so that we may have opportunity to produce testimony or our own to answer it." Lawyers in the case hoped today's session would mark a long stride toward the windup of the hearing.

The controversy is over a proposal to build dams on the Mahoning and Grand rivers in Ohio, and to connect the two rivers with a channel. The idea is to store springtime floodwaters behind the dams for release when river levels are low. Those favoring the proposal say this would reduce pollution and provide more constant supplies of water for domestic and industrial use by downstream municipalities, including Youngstown and Warren, O.

The board of engineers' staff has recommended the project. Approval by the board itself is considered a required step before Congress can take action on the multi-million dollar project.

Ohioans endorsing the project contend that in addition to its importance from a flood control angle, it is linked closely to the national defense program.

Counterfeit Ring Smashed

Two Masterminds Of $500,000 Deal Nabbed

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 19 — (UP) — Secret Service agents claimed today the capture of the two masterminds of a counterfeiting ring which spread $500,000 in bogus money across the nation.

Salvatore Sallii, 39, and Anthony Iraci, 36, both of Buffalo, were arrested yesterday in downtown cafes by Treasury agents who had followed a trail which began in Los Angeles three months ago and spread to New Orleans, St. Louis, Cleveland, Atlanta and other cities.

Secret Service supervisor for New York, A. E. Whitaker, said $230,000 of the phony money made by the ring had been recovered and that banking officials had been alerted to be on the lookout for many hundreds of thousands dollars more of the $10 and $20 bills believed to be in circulation.

Treasury officials said the bogus bills bore the symbols of all 12 Federal Reserve districts from A to L. They said this was an extremely rare and expensive counterfeiting procedure to lessen chances of detection.

Whitaker said Sallii and Iraci were also "the moving spirits" in widespread counterfeiting of OPA ration stamps during the war and "the organizers" of a ring which counterfeited large amounts of Canadian currency during the past several months.

At the time of his arrest, Sallii was free in $10,000 bail following his conviction on narcotics charges.

The tip-off on their activities came from Secret Service agents in Los Angeles who told U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol in New York they believed the ring had its headquarters in the East.

Treasury agents posing as "distributors" arrested four New Yorkers on Jan. 26 after purchasing $200,000 worth of bogus bills for $40,000. On the following day three arrests were made in Buffalo and four in Los Angeles.

Edwin Manning, Secret Service agent in charge of the Buffalo district, revealed yesterday that since January, 20 distributors for the ring have been picked up in Buffalo, another 25 taken in New York and "about a dozen" in New Orleans. These arrests netted $30,000 in fake currency, he said.

Manning said the counterfeit money may have been distributed in all of the Federal Reserve banking cities.

Symington Analyzes Cold War Threats

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19 — (AP)—This is how W. Stuart Symington, Secretary of Air, sees the cold war:

Russia considers war inevitable. Russia can deliver a surprise atomic attack on "any part of the United States."

Against such a blow, the U.S. is defenseless.

"Our greatest defense will be the knowledge on the part of whoever is foolish enough to attack us that we would be prepared to carry out a full retaliatory attack," Symington told the Chamber of Commerce last night.

Symington leaves the Air Force Monday to become chairman of the National Security Resources Board. He said his new job will be to help develop a strong defense.

300 At C. of C. Farmers Would Bear Cost Of Price Pegs Under Plan

WASHINGTON, April 19 — (UP)—A proposal that farmers themselves bear most, or all, of the cost of farm price supports is gaining support among farm organizations.

It reflects farm leaders' concern over public criticism of the cost of the present program. The government now has $4,000,000,000 "invested" in farm surpluses.

Tunney, introduced by Sam F. Keener, deplored the deficit financing program of the government, which, he declared, can lead only to disaster. Although giving what he termed a talk on economics, Tunney dwelt at length on this nation's failure to uphold the open door policy in China.

The retired boxing champion concluded his part of the program by showing films of outstanding boxing matches.

The C. of C. dinner was presided over by Alroy Bloomberg, president, who introduced guests from neighboring cities in Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

E. M. Stephenson and Harry M. Heckathorn, directors, assisted Bloomberg in arranging the program.

Speakers will be Robert Bonthuis, Wooster College professor of religion, and Mrs. Russell Bickel, president of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The program for the county P. T. A. institute includes a talk by Mrs. Sarah H. Hunter on "Ways to Develop Leadership With Your Membership;" J. L. McBride superintendent of Columbiana County schools, and a second talk by Mrs. Hunter on "Humorous Caricatures of Mrs. P. T. A."

The Fairfield school band and choral groups will present selections and council officers will be elected. Mrs. T. R. Rath of Canton, district director of the Ohio P. T. A., will install the officers. Reservations can be made with Mr. Utterback at the school before April 27.

Women Meet On Suffrage Anniversary

In recognition of the 100th anniversary of the first meeting of the Ohio Women's Suffrage Association in Salem, a committee of women from the Ohio Branch of the National Woman's Party met here today.

"We consider our organization the direct spiritual heir of the pioneer women who met here April 19, 1850," Mrs. Clara Snell Wolfe of Columbus, chairman of the Ohio branch, said.

Other women here for the meeting are from Youngstown, Akron and Worthington. On the program are Margaret Moss of Akron, Ernestine Breisch Powell of Worthington, Edith Polloch of Dayton and Dr. Helena T. Ratterman of Cincinnati.

The objective of the Woman's Party is the improvement of the status of women. It is the only organization in the United States with this explicit objective, Mrs. Wolfe avers.

The equal rights amendment the party is working for is as follows:

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." This is similar to the one passed by the women in Salem 100 years ago.

Joseph E. Chidester of Salem drove his car into the rear of one operated by Arthur Fultz of Akron, who was waiting for the gates to go up. His car, in turn, hit the rear of one driven by John R. Guillems of Millbrook, Mass.

Ruby Geary of R. D. 3, Salem, opened the left door of her parked car on W. State st. at 3:10 p. m. Tuesday and the door was struck by a passing auto driven by Robert Cain of R. D. 3, Salem. The door and a fender on Cain's car were damaged.

Officials Wary Of Air Incident

U. S. Concerned Over New Soviet Clash

WASHINGTON, April 19 — (AP)—The possibility of further Soviet - American air clashes along the uneasy front of the cold war in Europe is being studied by top officials here.

They are also deeply concerned, it was learned today, about the reasons why the Russians allegedly shot down a U. S. naval plane in the Baltic sea area April 8. They have demanded—but doubt they will get—Soviet assurances no such thing will happen again.

The demand was set forth in a note of protest delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky in Moscow yesterday by Ambassador Alan G. Kirk.

The formal note declared the United States government had concluded that Soviet fighter planes fired on an unarmed navy "privateer" over the open sea, and declared this to be a violation of international law and "peaceful conduct between nations."

This American version of what happened when the four engine craft disappeared with ten crewmen aboard clashed head on with a Russian protest note which Vishinsky handed to Kirk a week ago. That note claimed that a Russian fighter fired on an American four engine craft only after it had flown illegally over Soviet territory and fired on fighters which sought to signal it to land.

State Department officials saw no prospects that the Russians would withdraw from their version of the incident and therefore expected that Moscow would reject both the American charges and the demands growing out of them.

These demands were that Russia should make a "prompt and thorough investigation" of the affair and should order the Soviet air force "that there be no repetition, under whatever pretext, of incidents of this kind."

The American note also said this government expects that the Soviet government "will express its regret for the unlawful and provocative behavior of its aviators," will punish those responsible for the attack on the navy plane and will "pay appropriate indemnity for the unprovoked destruction of American lives and property."

What the United States will do next if the Russians turn down these demands, as they may be expected to do, is the nub of the problem before the state and defense departments and the White House.

Information Head Linked To Spy Work

Nation Demands U. S. Halt Activities; Prague Trials Open

LONDON, April 19 — (AP)—Czechoslovakia today ordered the expulsion of Joseph C. Kolarek, director of the U. S. Information Services, and demanded an immediate halt to the U.S.I.S. activities in the country.

At the same time dispatches from Prague said six Czechoslovakians, one of them a woman, went on trial in Pankrac state court in Prague, charged with belonging to a spy ring directed by the U. S. embassy. The Czech news agency said the chief defendant, former Army Major Jaromir Neshansky, confessed to charges of high treason and spying.

In a telephone call to Berlin, Kolarek, press attache of the embassy in Prague, said the Czech government accused him of "grossly abusing" his diplomatic office by using Czech nationals for spying and propaganda work against their government. Kolarek denied the charges.

The Czech government last October had announced it had smashed a spy ring directed by six former U. S. embassy officials. U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson said in Washington at the time that these charges obviously had been "trumped up."

"They (the Czech communist government) are really turning on the heat against us now," a Prague embassy spokesman commented in the Berlin telephone conversation.

The U.S.I.S. library long had been under Czech secret police pressure. Czechs who patronized the library frequently were stopped and warned not to return there.

A third development in the sudden upsurge of anti-American spy charges was the sentencing of a 20-year-old U. S. citizen, J. Zastera, to 18 years in prison after conviction on charges of high treason and espionage.

Zastera, a student, also was ordered expelled from the country, dispatches from Prague reported. But they did not say whether he was to be expelled before or after serving his prison term. Zastera was reported sentenced along with 15 Czechs but details of the accusations were not immediately disclosed.

Floats are being prepared by the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs and by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the overall campaign. The Garden, Saxon and Rumanian Clubs, the Knights of Columbus, Guilford Grange and McArthur Floral also will have floats. There will be a Dutch Boy float also.

Henry Zimmerman, D. J. Rosener and Robert Greenawalt are in charge of parade arrangements for the Jaycees.

The American Legion Quaker City Band will lead the march. Various area high school and adult musical organizations are preparing to participate in the event. A cavalcade of new cars and a group of planes, flown by local pilots, also are being readied for the parade.

Woman's Suffrage Convention Held Here 100 Years Ago Today; Events Recalled

By PEARL WALKER

APRIL 19 is a memorable day in Salem annals. One hundred years ago today, April 19, 1850, enthusiastic Salem women, and some men, too, packed City Hall, now a historic landmark, for the first meeting of the Ohio Suffrage Association.

Although the agitation for franchise was begun between 1830 and 1840, this was the second meeting of its kind ever held in the United States. The first Woman's Rights convention was in July, 1848, at Seneca Falls, N. Y.

Mrs. Emily Robinson, chairman of the convention here, appointed Mariana W. Johnson and Sarah Cadler, president and secretary pro tem, respectively.

Mrs. Robinson was the wife of Marius R. Robinson, who became editor of the Anti-Slavery Bugle in 1851 and conducted it until the time of its discontinuance, after the abolition of slavery had been practically assured.

PAP'S DIARY, written by Howell Hise, pioneer Salem resident, gives this vivid account of the convention:

"The Women's convention was a perfect jam. All enthusiasm. They did honor to their sex."

"Cursed be the pitiful whining politicians, that still persist in withholding from her, her political rights."

"The croaking whelps have a singular method of applying that portion of the Declaration of Independence, namely: That all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

"A great many excellent letters were read addressed to the convention from friends at a distance, besides a number of speeches."

Mrs. Robinson in her report of the meeting said:

"At this convention the gentlemen were not privileged to speak. They sat before us for two whole days, with bright eyes and an expression of wonder, desiring much to help us with just one word now and then, but the rule could not be broken."

"Through the kindness of Oliver Johnson of the New York Tribune our convention had an unusually able report and circulation. Letters of inquiry, approval and congratulations came from all parts of the country, and a few from other lands."

One of the reasons for holding the Salem convention was that in 1850 Ohio voters had decided to "alter and amend" the constitution of the state. However, it was not until 1919 that Ohio secured presidential suffrage by legislative enactment after the defeat of a referendum on the law in 1917 and of a constitutional amendment in 1912 and 1914.

In the 1850 meeting here Betsy M. Cowles of Canton, graduate of Oberlin College, and a "wonder in her day," was named president of the association. Miss Cowles, outstanding educator of her time, helped to establish public schools in Canton and Massillon, was principal of the Woman's department of Grand River institute at Austinburg, O., and superintendent of the Painesville public schools.

SERVING with her were three vice presidents, Lydia B. Irish of New Lisbon; Harriet P. Weaver of Salem; and Rana Dora of Akron, and three secretaries, Caroline Stanton and Sallie B. Grove of Salem and Ann Eliza Lee of Randolph.

The convention's business committee was made up of Emily Robinson, J. Elizabeth Jones, Josephine Griffing, Mariana Johnson, Esther Lukens and Mary H. Stanton.

A Cadiz woman—Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, is credited with pioneer service in the suffrage cause a year earlier than the Salem convention. She wrote a book entitled, "A Scriptural View of Woman's Rights and Duties."

The second annual state convention of the association was in Akron in May, 1851, and the next two were in Massillon and Ravenna, respectively.

The women were back in Salem for their eighth annual convention, May 25, 26 and 27, 1892, and were welcomed by Mayor J. W. Northrup. "His remarks had the fearless ring of the old reformers," it was learned from a report of this meeting.

Susan B. Anthony, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association from 1892 to 1900, was among the official guests and read Mrs. Robinson's report of the first convention.

MISS EVA DEMING of New York City, formerly of Salem, was one of the soloists at the eighth convention.

Wyoming was the first state to have women's suffrage. It was admitted to the statehood, with the franchise for women, in 1890, having had it as a territory since 1869.

The National Woman Suffrage Association, led by Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, and the American Woman Suffrage Association, with Lucy Stone, Blackwell and her husband Henry B. Blackwell, merged into the National American Woman Suffrage Association in 1890 with Elizabeth Cady Stanton as president and Mrs. Blackwell chairman of the executive committee.

The 1912 platform of the Progressive Party declared in favor of Woman's Suffrage. At the national election in 1916 women were voting in 11 states. By 1920, 36 states had ratified by legislature and the 19th amendment was adopted Aug. 26 of that year.

New Jersey Voters Re-elect Rep. Eaton

NEWARK, N. J., April 19—Charles A. Eaton, 82-year-old Republican congressman and ranking GOP house spokesman on foreign affairs, yesterday won re-nomination for a 14th term.

The legislator coasted to an easy win over two opponents in New Jersey's fifth congressional district primary election.

His victory was one of eight won by organization-backed candidates in the state's 14 congressional districts. Five of the primary fights were in the Republican column and three in the Democratic.

April Cold Held Up Spring Oats Sowing

Unseasonably cold weather during the first half of April caused a serious delay in the sowing of oats in Ohio and resulted in extensive damage to the state's fruit crop, the Weather Bureau reported today.

The bureau, in a weather and crop report for the week ended April 18, said up to 75 per cent of sour cherry blooms in southern Ohio counties were killed April 13-14 when the temperature dropped below the 20-degree mark at many stations. Some peach and plum blooms in southern Ohio died in the cold snap, the report added.

The cold and wet hampered sowing of oats, the weather bureau said, "and the chances of still making a good crop have been steadily diminishing for about two weeks. Some reports indicate that the oats acreage will be much less than was intended."

GOP Adamant On Foreign Policy

Want Information Of 'Behind-the-Scenes'

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Senate Republican leaders today demanded "cross-section" contact with the administration as the price of their party's support for bipartisan foreign policy.

Senators Bridges of New Hampshire and Wherry of Nebraska said flatly that if the Truman administration wants GOP help in handling international affairs it must be willing to listen to criticism of policies as they are being formed.

Wherry, the GOP floor leader, took the lead in demanding information on what's going on behind the world's diplomatic fronts be handed to senators representing a "cross-section" of Republican opinion—not just to those the administration thinks are likely to support its decisions.

Bridges told reporters he had made plain at a White House conference with President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson yesterday his view that such men as Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP policy committee, must be included among those consulted before foreign policy decisions are reached.

Taft often is critical of administration moves in the international field, as well as those at home.

Steel Firms Deny Monopoly Charges

WASHINGTON, April 19—(INS)—The nation's great steel companies start their contradiction today of charges they constitute a monopoly.

Company officials will appear before a house subcommittee investigating alleged monopolies in U. S. industry.

C. M. White, president of Republic Steel Corp., is scheduled to take the stand today as the first industry witness before the house group headed by Rep. Celler (D) of New York.

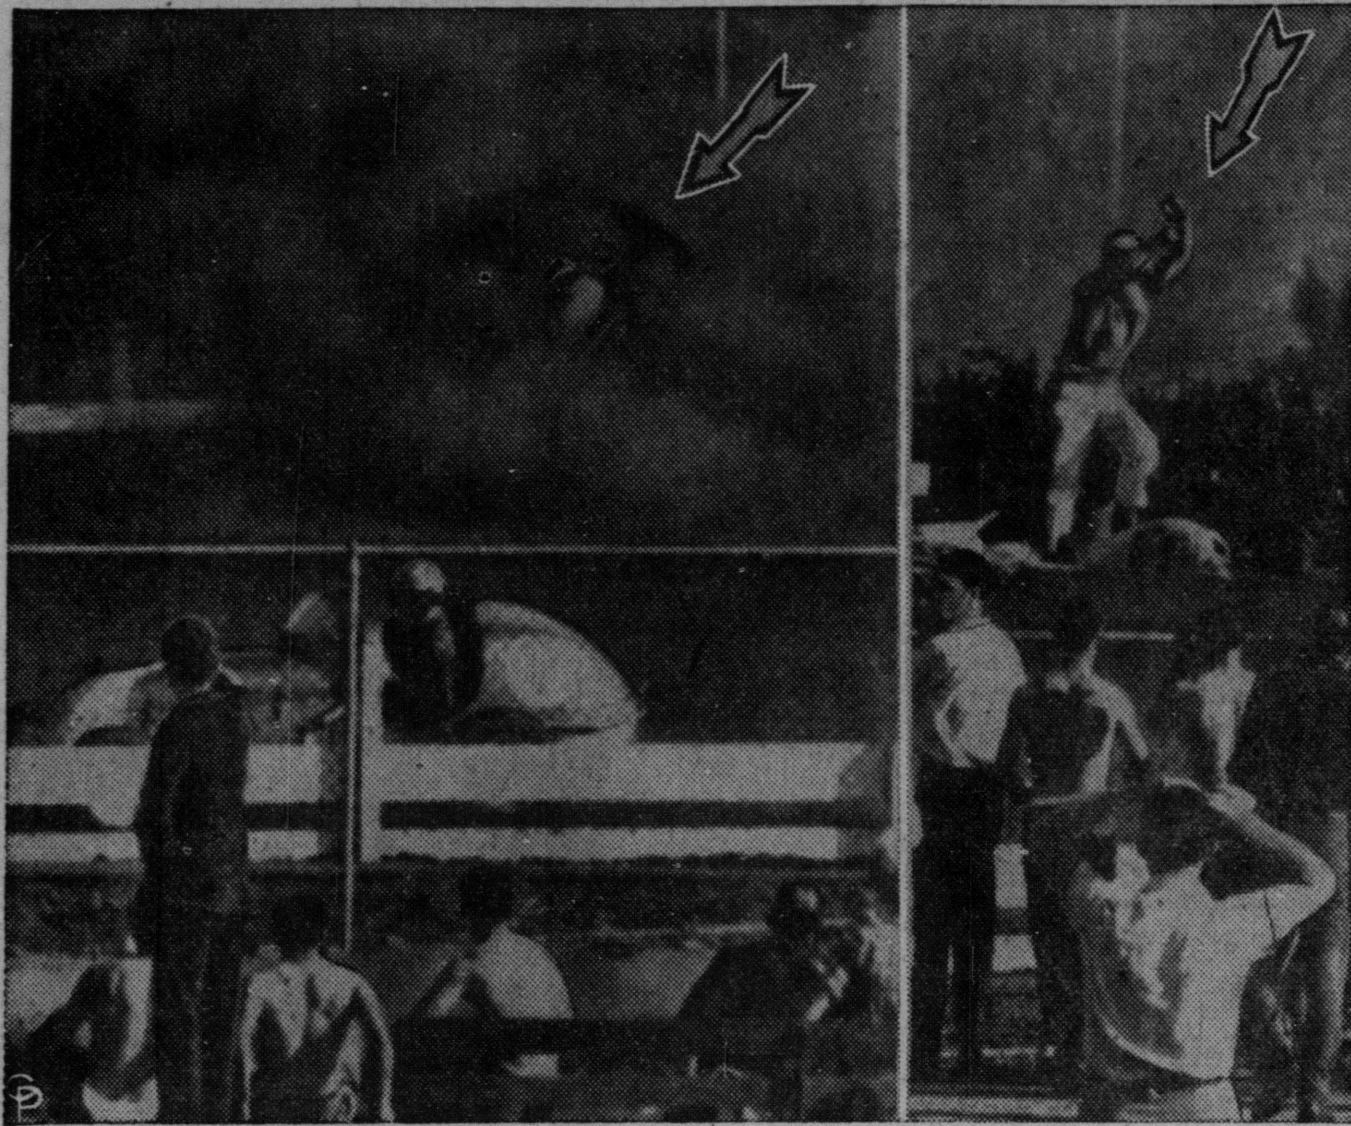

Mr. White is expected to take particular issue with a proposal endorsed by Rep. Celler that the large steel firms be broken up into small independent units to curb their power.

Rep. Celler is prepared to introduce "trust-busting" legislation in the house which would amend the Clayton Act to give the government power to dissolve large firms when their "size and power is such as to tend toward monopoly."

A Columbia University economist, Dr. George J. Stigler, at the outset of the three-week probe, urged that such action be taken against the U. S. Steel Corp., and "possibly" Republic Steel and the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Rep. Celler's measure would operate similarly to that which enabled the government to dissolve the electric power holding companies but would establish "a complete defense" if a firm could show that it achieves greater efficiency because of its size.

Hike 35 Miles To Game They Don't Get To See

AKRON, April 19—(AP)—Jim H. Leonard, 67, and L. W. (Tom) Crawford, 60, hiked 35 miles to Cleveland yesterday but ended by watching the Indians-Detroit Tigers game by television in Akron.

And then they got to see only the last couple of innings.

Monday night the unemployed painters told Bartender Douglas Slagle they wanted to see the opener. Slagle put up $10 on condition they hike to the Cleveland municipal stadium. Bill Kalman, 27, drove behind them for a few miles and then he started walking, too.

By the time they got to Cleveland, reporters interviewed them and took them to the stadium and to get free tickets.

Kalman said that didn't work. An Indian official refused the passes because such a donation would mean that "tomorrow we'd have a couple of hundred hiking into town."

The trio couldn't buy seats in the grandstand, Kalman continued, and the bleachers didn't appeal to them.

They took a buy back to Akron

Counter-Pushing

WHETHER relations between the United States and Russia are as strained as they can become without a complete severance apparently is going to be determined by the Baltic plane incident. If there is any flexibility left, it will show up now.

Russia opened the incident when it announced that its planes had fired on a U.S. "bomber" flying over Russian territory and that the plane returned their fire. The United States then made it known that the plane, previously reported missing, was not a bomber; that it was not armed and that it was not flying over Russian territory. It followed up this revelation with a note notifying the Russian government that damages for destruction of life and property and a reprimand to its aviators were expected. These will not, of course, be forthcoming. That would be out of character for the Kremlin. But it remains to be seen what, if anything, will be forthcoming—whether the Russian government will try to save face by some diplomatic maneuver, or whether it will challenge the United States, in effect, to recognize a state of hostilities in the Baltic.

This is the kind of pushing and counter-pushing that precedes wars. Sometimes it is intentional, to test the opposition's strength. It could be accidental. It is not necessarily conclusive, unless one side or the other decides the time has come to go to war. The Baltic plane incident will reveal the current temperature of what is still a cold war—but getting warmer.

End Of An Ugly Episode

IT TOOK a federal district judge in Washington only two hours to hear and rule on the case which the Department of Justice tried to make against Roger C. Slaughter. The defendant was acquitted of charges that he had violated the federal law to control lobbyists. He produced no witnesses; the government produced only two.

This was the end of an ugly episode in the kind of politics now recognized as the trademark of the Truman administration. Slaughter was elected to the 78th Congress as a Kansas City Democrat, representing the fifth Missouri district. He was re-elected to the 79th Congress. Meanwhile, Harry Truman had succeeded to the Presidency and formed a dislike for his fellow Missourian. In the Democratic state primary of 1946, Mr. Truman intervened to cause Slaughter's defeat. The district that fall was carried by a Republican; it was an expensive purge.

Slaughter, after his purge, became a practicing lawyer in Washington. His indictment by the Department of Justice for violating the federal law controlling lobbying was a continuation of the vendetta against him. For 18 months the government's case dangled in mid-air, obviously with nothing to hold it up. So the federal district judge let it fall of its own weight—hard. It is not a federal misdemeanor to be on the bad side of the Truman administration.

Helpful Henry

HENRY A. WALLACE, the man who missed being President of the United States by one heart-beat and a political deal that turned sour, hadn't been heard from in so long a time that his connection with recent events was easy to forget.

In 1944, helpful Henry's friends in the New Deal were running him for the Presidency with every ounce of steam they could muster. Obviously, what they needed was to build up his stature as a man of the world so it was arranged to send him to China as a courier for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

What Henry may have told Chiang Kai-Shek, if anything, never was revealed. But there's no secret about what he kept hollering at every whistle stop on his Asiatic junket. China should open its arms to Russia, was his message. The two countries should get together, with the approval of the United States. In fact, all Asiatic countries should quit being afraid of Russia and be chummy with it, instead. As a start, they should kick out the western powers—Britain, France, The Netherlands, Japan and, inferentially, the United States.

Henry Wallace knew all about the internal conspiracy of the Communist party in 1944. He knew there was no such thing as any country being let alone by Communists. He knew they would rush in wherever existing authority could be kicked out. He knew that China could no more be buddies with the Soviet Union than a fat duck can be buddies with a wolf. But helpful Henry had a job to do, and he did it. He almost won the vice presidential nomination a few weeks later; he almost became President of the United States.

And what is the connection with recent events? Henry Wallace was accompanied to China by Owen Lattimore, who had been a deputy director of Pacific operations for OWI, a political adviser to Chiang Kai-Shek and who, more recently, has been having an opportunity to explain what, if anything, he had to do with the manner in which China and Russia finally got together—like a fat duck and a wolf.

Deferred Television

THE Big Ten precedent-setting decision to bar live television of its members' football games and to permit only "deferred" screenings has added a new adjective to the vocabulary of this new medium of entertainment. And it's touch-down to field goals it will add a new wrinkle to television.

Complete films of Big Ten games will not be available until the following day. That means they will be run off on Sunday afternoons in a season of the year when Sunday afternoons are intervals of indolence, with inclement weather outside. A full-length football game under these circumstances would be everything a football fan could ask for, unless he was planning to watch a professional game at that particular time. In that event, deferred television might defer itself to Monday night, when nothing goes on of much consequence anyway. Or Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday nights. By Friday, another football weekend starts. Since football's weakness always has been the fact it was played only once a week, deferred television looks like the way out. From Sept. 15 to Christmas each year there can be football once a day, if enough fans want it. The rasslers are going to have competition.

Name For A Prince

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK PRINCESS ELIZABETH of Britain will have her second child this summer.

And naturally the parents in Buckingham Palace are wondering what to name the baby. That is always a problem.

They must be weary of naming their offspring George, Edward or John—assuming it's a boy. And royal folk always operate on the assumption that the next child will be male.

I've got a free-for-nothing suggestion: Let's call the kid Wichita Windsor.

That might bridge him between two worlds.

Because poor young "Wichita Windsor the First" is bound to be a kind of rich sad sack. He will stand third in line to the throne—following Mother Elizabeth herself and his brother, bonny Prince Charles.

The best he can hope for in his native land is a weary dukedom and a life of boredom. This is because, by the ancient law of primogeniture, the oldest brother inherits the family's chief title and wealth.

YOUNG WICHITA Windsor—let us call him that—cannot, barring accidents, become either king or prime minister of Great Britain. He is condemned to a life of being a secondary figurehead, a rubber stamp in lifelong reserve.

But just supposing that this second child of Elizabeth should turn out to be one of the great political geniuses of history. In the country of his birth he would have no avenue to exercise his astuteness except by creating a revolution and grabbing top control. And violent revolution is no longer popular in England.

With a name like Wichita Windsor, however, he could emigrate to the United States and become a real power. Mind you, I'm not suggesting that he should.

But if he did, what would be his opportunities? Well, in one way they would be less than those of a son of the most poverty-stricken Negro family in the poorest section of Mississippi—or Harlem.

That is, any native-born Negro or white American child can be President of the United States, and no son or disciple of a foreign king, can. That is decreed in our Constitution.

But that would be the only political limitation upon him.

Young Wichita Windsor could become mayor of New York City, Senator from California, or governor of Illinois.

HE COULD also become the Secretary of State or the arbiter of Hollywood's morals. Any of these posts are more important than anything he could aspire to in England.

Thus it can be seen that, if he is a boy of merit, his real future lies outside the monarchy of his fathers and inside the country cousin democracy of America. He can make a real career for himself here.

Yes, here he can capitalize both on his royal background and his own personal merit. He can make a name for himself in this land of opportunity for prince and peasant.

That is why I think it would be a mistake for King George to make him the Duke of Cockfosters, or the Knight of Northolt. Such titles would only restrict the free exercise of his talents.

No, Princess Elizabeth, if she wants to give the kid a square break will just call him something plain and simple like Wichita Windsor.

Or maybe even Marshall, Jr., if that seems a better plan.

From Me to Me

Climax Coming To Russian Incident

By DAVID LAWRENCE

NOTE-WRITING between two powerful governments can prove to be the precursor of a crisis that leads to war. For when notes are written, the element of pride enters so strongly into the controversy that retreat by one or the other becomes in itself a problem.

The United States has written to Russia in the historic language of serious diplomacy. The American government has accused the Soviet fliers of firing on an unarmed plane causing the death of ten American citizens.

Just 35 years ago this spring, the United States sent a similar note to the German government accusing the commander of a German submarine of firing on helpless American citizens traveling on an unarmed ship, the "Lusitania." War for America eventually came in the end.

THIS same kind of demand was made of Japan when the American vessel "Panay" was sunk in Chinese inland waters upon the orders of a Japanese naval commander. War eventually came in the end.

The customary course is to ask for punishment of those who have offended and to demand steps be taken to prevent repetition, and that there be an expression of regret or apology and an appropriate indemnity.

What is most significant is that the United States government chose to make identical demands of Russia. There has been no softening of words or phrases.

The exact language is important to examine. The note says:

"The ambassador of the United States has been instructed to protest in the most solemn manner against this violation of international law and of the most elementary rules of peaceful conduct between nations. The United States government demands that the Soviet government institute a prompt and thorough investigation of this matter in order that the facts set forth above may be confirmed to its satisfaction. The United States government further demands that the most strict and categorical instructions be issued to the Soviet air force that there be no repetition, under whatever pretext, of incidents of this kind which are so clearly calculated to magnify the difficulties of maintaining peaceful and correct international relations."

"The United States government confidently expects that, when its investigation is completed, the Soviet government will express its regret for the unlawful and provocative behavior of its aviators, will see to it that those responsible for this action are promptly and severely punished and will, in accordance with established custom among peace-loving nations, pay appropriate indemnity for the unprovoked destruction of American lives and property."

THIS MEANS that if Russia does not show a willingness to compose the affair, relations will become strained much further than they have been in the cold war and that the American people will have far more cause to be inflamed against the Russian government than they have ever had before.

Many of the complex matters of the cold war are not widely understood, but the shooting down of an unarmed American plane is thoroughly understood. American pride is intersected—for if Russia spurns the American note and does not show a conciliatory spirit toward settlement, the temptation will arise to take retaliatory steps.

This might mean the sending of armed air forces to patrol the border between the Russian-occupied areas and those of the United States and Allied countries, with orders to shoot down any Russian planes that may venture across the line.

When matters get to that sort of stage, anything can happen. The Russian foreign office, therefore, has been poorly advised to accuse the American aviators of flying over their territory and of firing on Russian fighter planes. It would have been so much simpler and easier for all concerned if the Russians had admitted the error of their aviators and expressed regret. There would have been no serious consequences.

THE AMERICAN people will not believe the charges that the U.S. Navy plane was armed. They will believe that it was unarmed. So the Russians will not be able by further charges to change American public opinion. The Soviet government is confronted, therefore, today with the most serious decision it may have to make in all its post-war relations with the United States—a decision that can lead to war as incident after incident arises to inflame the people of the United States or one that can lead to peace and a better understanding between the two governments.

The United States does not send a note of such firm language and then forget about it. There is a climax coming and the need of the hour is for the Kremlin to realize that pride must not stand in the way of acknowledging that some Russian aviators made a blunder.

High on a Hill

By TRUMAN TWILL

THIS BEING the first anniversary of this column's search for a new environment, which led to an exodus into the rural precincts, it's in order to lapse into some reminiscence.

The specifications for the new environment were blank when the search began. The idea was to find something different—something which would bring a net addition to the joy of being alive without leading to any avoidable deficits. The search user up more than a month of time in which the fields were turning green. It ended with the dogwoods in full bloom.

And it ended accidentally, as such searches usually do. An extemporaneous turn up an unmarked road, a sudden vista—and that was it. There was nothing further to look for. The new environment had materialized out of nowhere.

It's still materializing. For example, there is the hill, which no one paid any attention to at first. But that hill has grown increasingly important. Late in March it proved to be covered with upthrusting jonquils. This was the more surprising in view of the fact the hill when first observed was covered with weeds.

Also during the winter the hill proved to be a fine place for sliding, on the occasions when sliding was feasible—as well as on some occasions when it wasn't.

such as the morning the head of the house slithered all the way to the bottom with a pail of water, never spilling a drop.

But the hill's great merit lies elsewhere. It is a vantage point for observation. The house stands at the top, and from the second floor in the mornings and on moonlight nights it is possible to inspect the creek and the fields for more than a mile.

This view is particularly advantageous for the Twillery dogs and for T. Manville the tomcat. This reminiscence was brought on by the sight of these three members of the household sitting in a row on the top of the hill, making observations. A human being could only guess what they were observing—and could only suspect that they may not have been observing anything at all, but just enjoying life.

Perhaps they were only doing what human beings are licensed to do when the spring sunshine is fragile and bright, when there are patches of snow in the valleys and when the buds are swelling. Some sit and think. Some just sit. A good deal of that sort of thing goes on in the country, and no harm comes of it."

Not everybody has to move to the country to have something to look at. But for those who are considering it, don't overlook the advantages that accrue from a hill, with a lake or a creek for good measure. Especially if the comfort and convenience of two dogs and a tomcat are involved.

Latin-America

'Playing-With-Peron' Policy Serious

WASHINGTON A new U. S. policy on the Argentine is gradually emerging, and it is headed for serious controversy.

The idea up to now has been that the United States should have no truck with the government of President Juan Peron until it puts through some much-needed reforms. These include the granting of more political freedom, establishment of more civil liberties and guarantees of more freedom for the press.

It is not just that U. S. correspondents have been censored and kicked out of the country. La Prensa and Nacion, two of the leading Buenos Aires newspapers which have been critical of Peron's administration, have taken an awful beating from government regulation.

The Peron government has been pretty rough on American business interests in the Argentine—particularly U. S. airlines and packing companies. There has been some slight evidence of a change in sentiment in recent weeks, but no firm guarantees.

For the United States to consider any deals with Peron before he corrects all these conditions, it is held, is to commit this government to a double standard of morals.

THE U. S. has not condoned anti-democratic practices, in either Nationalist China, the iron curtain countries or Franco Spain. To overlook such behavior in the Argentine would not be good policy, nor would it be consistent.

The place where it might lead to most trouble would be in the other Latin-American republics. The United States has in effect been telling these other governments they could expect no cooperation if they behaved like Peron.

If this government now reversed itself and started bolstering up the Peron government it could easily lead the other American governments to say, "The way to get help from the United States is to go broke and to be disagreeable."

Playing with Peron now might alienate every liberal element in Latin-America. It could lower American prestige all over the world. It would be good propaganda for Communist agitators in Latin-America.

THE good government of neighboring Chile, which has cooperated with the United States in many ways, could view U. S. aid to the Argentine with complete misgivings. Brazil also might be terribly annoyed. Brazil zils fears or is at least suspicious of the Argentine. Uruguay has negotiated a model trade agreement with the United States. For the United States to turn now to saving the Argentine might well be considered abandonment of old and true friends.

There is some belief that if left to its own devices, the Peron government might collapse. It is definitely in trouble.

After the war, the Argentine government, in control of all its foreign trade, piled up dollar debts in the United States of over $200,000,000. This unfavorable trade balance has now been reduced by half. But further reduction will be difficult, unless the United States helps.

These are some of the main reasons given as to why the United States should hold off on assistance to Peron.

The other point of view is that not doing business with Peron has been pointless and profitless. The more the United States, opposed Peron and his policies, the more it strengthened his position at home.

The last two U. S. ambassadors in the Argentine have been practical men of big business affairs. First James Bruce, now Stanton Griffiths, have one much to change the atmosphere that prevailed when Spruille Braden was ambassador and assistant secretary of state. In the war years when Peron stayed out as profit-taking neutral, Braden fought fascism and Peronism for all he was worth.

The real signs of a possible change in sentiment towards the United States became apparent when Assistant Secretary of State Edward G. Miller, Jr., visited Buenos Aires last month. Peron, probably in the desperation of his own government's bad financial condition, possibly persuaded by Ambassador Griffiths, propositioned Secretary Miller good.

At about the same time, Argentine Treasury Minister Ramon Cereijo came to Washington. He has conferred with both State Department and Export-Import Bank. So far he has made no direct application for a loan of the type Ex-Im bank usually grants. Nor has he indicated he would like U. S. government help in refinancing the $100,000,000 in arrears which the Argentine has piled up.

Both possibilities, however, are under consideration. There is much soul searching in Washington as to the possible political consequences of bolstering up Peron's government. It will probably be several weeks before there are any conclusions.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Dropsy Signal of Serious Condition

DROPSY is a condition in which fluids which should have been eliminated accumulate in the body and cause swelling. The medical term for dropsy is edema. Dropsy while not of itself a disease is usually a sign of some serious underlying condition.

One of the most common causes of dropsy is failure of the heart to pump as well as it should. The normally-acting heart pumps the blood through the blood vessels at a fairly even rate. The blood which flows through the kidneys is treated by these organs so that fluids which should not be kept in the body are eliminated. If, however, the heart is not working well, the blood will pass too slowly through the kidneys and too much fluid is kept in the body.

This causes swelling. The most common place for this swelling to appear is in the feet and ankles because these are held down a good deal of the time and the force of gravity aids in the deposit of fluids in these regions.

One of the treatments for dropsy of the feet caused by heart disease is bed rest so that gravity will not work to aid the deposit of fluid there. Of course, the heart itself must also be treated. Rest is good for this organ also since the heart does not have to work so hard when the rest of the body is not exerting. Many forms of heart disease can bring about this type of heart weakness and it is not peculiar to any one type.

There are other conditions which may lead to dropsy. One of the most important is damage to the kidneys themselves. If they fail to remove the fluid and other undesirable material from the blood, dropsy may result. In fact, one of the most severe forms of dropsy is that which comes in Bright's disease, or nephritis, which is an inflammation of the kidneys.

Sometimes dropsy occurs not in the legs only but elsewhere in the body including the abdominal cavity or the lungs. Under such circumstances if the fluid cannot be removed by direct action on the heart or the kidneys, it may be necessary to remove some of the excess fluid by inserting a needle and drawing off the fluid through a syringe. This is a temporary measure.

The accumulation of undesired fluid in the body from these two principal causes, or from some of the less common ones, is a serious sign. Recovery often takes place. However, the body is ordinarily so well run that minor difficulties with the heart or kidneys are taken care of and the appearance of dropsy must usually be considered as a sign of something seriously wrong.

Mail Service May Be Cut

Postmaster General Issues New Order

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—Most postmasters over the country get orders today for a cut in mail service, including a limit of one delivery a day to residential areas.

Further, postoffice windows are to close earlier where possible and other economies are in the works.

The orders were announced last night by Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson. Postmasters were instructed to begin putting them into effect as soon as they are received.

The "immediate" order applies particularly to delivery restrictions. A 30-day notice is to be allowed on the curtailment of services that affect business operations, such as receipt of mail at the windows and back platforms of postoffices.

Donald explained cuts in service are necessary because postoffice costs have been far outstripping postal receipts.

He has been trying to get Congress to vote more money to his department and to let it raise postal rates by a total of about $600,000,000 a year.

In fact, some members of Congress took the view that the mail service curtailment was decided on in order to pressure Congress into giving the Postal Department more money.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the appropriations committee commented to newsmen that the decision to curb service "seems well-timed."

He added that a storm of protests from mail users probably will follow the department's decision and is bound to be reflected when house members vote on postal funds in the omnibus appropriation bill, probably next week.

Donaldson made no exception in laying down the one-day limitation. He went further and said mixed areas including shops and residences shall not be classed as business districts for most frequent service.

On Saturdays, business areas which have been getting three deliveries a day are hereafter to get only two. Those business areas which have been getting two on Saturday will get but one. Also, only first class mail, newspapers and parcel post will be processed during the night hours, in order to cut down on payroll costs. Night time pickups of mail from street boxes are to be sharply curtailed. Postoffice window services are to close not later than 6 p. m., and by 5 p. m. if possible.

Donaldson said further reductions in personnel are in the offing.

His order brought a prompt protest from the AFL Association of Letter Carriers, which called it "a rape of the postal service" and said it would protest to congress.

Theme Of Salem High School Party Will Be "Jungle Dance"

THE HIGH SCHOOL ASSOCIATION party this year will be a "Jungle Dance." It will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. Friday in the school gymnasium with 54 pupils and eight teachers arranging the event.

Decorations for the dance have been made by the art classes. "Large ferocious animals," which artists claim have "strayed in from the wild," were painted and cut from cardboard. Jungle birds of brilliant plumage will be perched on green paper "vines."

Elks Club Members Honor Manager, 85

Sampson Moore, manager of the Salem Elks Club, who will be 85 years old Friday, was the honor guest at a surprise birthday dinner party Tuesday evening at the Elks Club.

He was acquainted with the fact that the party was for him when members of the Elks Auxiliary, who arranged the affair, and their husbands, sang "Happy Birthday." The table where Mr. Moore was seated held a three-tiered decorated birthday cake, lighted by candles.

Paper in pastel shades of green and pink, with white, and candles, made the table attractive. Streamers lettered "Happy Birthday" in gold were attached to each candle holder.

Cloyd Reynard served as toastmaster and presented Moore with a gift from the Elks men's lodge. A business meeting of the auxiliary followed the dinner and the evening was concluded with a dance program which also was a surprise. W. W. Keck's orchestra played for dancing.

Mrs. N. W. Kelly and her committee were in charge of dinner arrangements. The auxiliary will hold a business meeting May 2.

Lausche Replies To Rhodes' Charges

COLUMBUS, April 19—(AP)—Charges by Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus that Gov. Frank J. Lausche is trying to "look up the Henry Wallace vote" brought chuckles and a Biblical quotation from the governor today.

Rhodes, a Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, said Lausche had "hidden away in the liquor department" a former Franklin county Progressive party chairman and a member of the civil rights committee of the Progressive Citizens party.

He referred to William R. Gibson, Ohio State University GI student who for the last two weeks has been a clerical worker in the liquor department's public relations division.

A newsman read portions of Rhodes' statement to the governor over the telephone, and Lausche chuckled. He commented:

"At a banquet of the Methodist bishops of the United States which I attended in Cleveland Monday, I heard Bishop Baker of Los Angeles, Calif., deplore the evil that is done by false statements. He said people should be mindful of one of the 10 commandments that says: 'thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.'"

HUNT OKLAHOMA "BAD MAN" IN GERMANY—U. S. Army and German police armed with tear gas, submachine guns and radio cars halt traffic on the Autobahn near Dachau, Germany, to search for 27-year-old Oklahoma "tough guy" Homer Cook. A three-nation shoot-on-sight order was out for Cook who broke out of jail twice in five days. U. S. Army agents, directing the man-hunt, said they thought Cook escaped because he had a tip on some buried treasure.

Chicken Offers Many Recipes

RECENTLY I went to an All-American chicken dinner given by poultry producers. There were all-purpose chickens (you can fry, broil or roast them) cooked 12 different ways.

All the recipes were interesting, as you can judge by these two examples:

Chicken Salad Avocado

One 3- to 3½-lb. ready-to-cook chicken, 6 ripe avocados, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons salad oil, one-third cup chopped toasted almonds, 3 tablespoons peeled grapes, one-third cup chopped avocado pulp, dash red pepper, 1 teaspoon salt.

Simmer chicken slowly in just enough water to cover, until tender. When cool, separate meat from bones and cut into cubes. Add white grapes, peeled and halved, and well-buttered toasted almonds. Scoop out the center pulp of six thoroughly ripe avocados. Slice thinly (or chop) enough of the pulp to make approximately one-third cupful. Add this to the chicken mixture.

Mash about ¼ remaining avocado pulp with a fork, add lemon juice, salt and red pepper. Beat with a fork until light and fluffy, adding salad oil slowly as needed, to make a creamy consistency. Combine avocado dressing with other ingredients and toss lightly. Fill scooped avocado shells with the salad mixture. Garnish with mint jelly if desired.

Oven-Barbecued Chicken

Two 2½- to 3½-lb. chickens, cut in half, necks, gizzards, hearts, 1 large onion, 1 clove garlic, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon black pepper, ¼ teaspoon garlic salt, ¼ teaspoon cayenne, 4 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1½ cups tomato juice, ¼ cup vinegar, ¼ cup water, chicken livers, ½ lb. mushrooms (optional).

Lay chicken skin-side down in shallow open pan. Add sliced onion, gizzards, hearts and garlic. Pour in water to fill pan about ¾ inch. Cook in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 1 hour, turning occasionally — water should be reduced about half.

Meanwhile, prepare Barbecue Sauce: Mix sugar, mustard, salt, pepper, garlic salt and cayenne in saucepan. Add Worcestershire, tomato juice, vinegar, and water. Heat to boiling and pour all sauce over chicken. Baste chicken with hot sauce about every 10 minutes, leaving a pool of sauce in rib cake when halves are turned ribs up.

Cook until chicken is tender and sauce is reduced to a rich gravy, about 1½ to 2 hours longer. For larger chicken, cook longer. Should sauce thicken before chicken is done, add ½ to 1 cup boiling water. Drop sliced mushrooms and livers into sauce about 15 minutes before chicken is done. Lift chicken to hot platter and serve the sauce separately. Yield: four halves, or 8 quarters, or 4 to 8 servings.

For a rich crustiness, place well-basted chicken skin-side up under broiler. Watch it—3 minutes may be ample!

Note: For barbecuing chicken on outdoor grill, use same sauce, simmered down, applying frequently with spoon or stick with cloth on end.

BISHOP TO RETIRE

NEW PHILADELPHIA, April 19—(AP)—Bishop Walter Moses, founder and first pastor of the First Moravian Church here, will give up his post May 1 and retire to live in St. Augustine, Fla. He spent 34 years as a professor at Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pa.

Former Kensington Man Still Unable To Leave Red China

KENSINGTON, April 19—Plans to evacuate stranded foreigners from Communist Shanghai have failed to materialize for the second time in a month.

Lorin G. Reader, former Kensington resident, who is a technician and photographer at the Department of State's Information Service offices at Shanghai, is among the 1,600 foreigners, who include more than 300 Americans.

British authorities called off the trip, which was to have been made on the coastal steamer, Anking. Negotiations had been made to use the vessel which had been awaiting orders to sail for Shanghai.

The British gave no specific reason for the cancellation. They did say, however, that while Chinese Communist officials in Shanghai favored the evacuation in principle, factors of timing had forced its abandonment.

They said the Reds were to have supplied shallow draft boats to ferry passengers down river for loading on the Anking at the mouth of the Yangtze River.

Last month, the U. S. Department planned to evacuate the 1,600 foreigners on the Gen. W. H. Gordon, but this was blocked by the Chinese Communists.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson said in Washington the United States is giving up efforts to get the 1,600 out by the sea, but added the Reds will be asked to permit the foreigners to leave by rail to Hong Kong or Tientsin.

Henry Murdock, paint manager of the Youngstown branch of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., was the speaker at the meeting of the club Monday evening. He illustrated with charts his talk on the harmonizing of colors and how the eye distinguishes them. The speaker was presented by George Keller, program chairman.

Warren Miller of the Kiwanis Club was a guest and distributed tickets for the Arion Chorus which will sing in the High School auditorium next Monday evening.

A. L. Wells is planning a box social and Ladies' Night for the club, Monday evening, May 1.

Blow 9-Run Lead To Lose To Yanks 15-10

By JACK HAND

Same old Boston Red Sox, left at the post again by the 1950 model of Casey Stengel's New York Yankee "team of destiny," Old Case, reigning miracle man of baseball, has done it again. The Yanks are off a-wing on the strength of a throbbing 15-10 opening day victory yesterday at Fenway Park.

They did it the hard way, overcoming an early 9-0 Boston lead and winning with nine runs in a shocking eighth-inning revolution. Just like 1949.

Boston, overwhelming favorite to cop the American League pennant and dethrone the world champion Yanks, had company. Brooklyn's National League champs also flopped. They fell before the youthful Philadelphia Phils, 9-1. Don Newcombe, pitching ace of the favored Brooks, was knocked from the box in the second inning before 29,074.

All in all, attendance at the eight-game opening show was fine. Of course, there was the added impetus of the first night opener in history—at St. Louis—which added 20,871 to the total. The openers drew 252,700 as compared to 257,459 for a nine-game, two-day program last year.

CLEVELAND DREW the best crowd; 65,744. The turnouts ranged all the way down to 9,987 at Chicago where the youthful St. Louis Browns and White Sox were a doubtful lure.

Getting back to Boston where the real fireworks exploded, the Red Sox harbored real hopes of blasting their getaway jinx. Instead they lost their third straight opener. Their 21-game carryover win streak at Fenway Park is smashed.

It started like an easy ride for Mel Parnell, 25-game winner of last year. Boston knocked out Allie Reynolds, the Yanks' No. 1 boy, opening up a wide early lead. Nobody worried when Parnell yielded four runs in the sixth. Boston made it 10-4 going to the eighth.

Then it happened. Fourteen Yanks went to bat in the inning. After Parnell it was Walt Masterson, Earl Johnson, Al Papi and finally Charley Schanz. When it was over, the Yanks had scored nine runs for a 13-10 lead. Just to make it sure, they added two in the ninth off Boo Ferriss.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN threw out the first ball at Washington where the Senators knocked off the Philadelphia A's, 8-7, before 31,548. Bucky Harris' lightly-regarded Senators knocked out Carl Scheib before he retired a batter.

Rookie Outfielder Ken Wood and Pitcher Ned Garver teamed up to lead the St. Louis Browns to a 5-3 win over Chicago. Wood drove in three runs with two doubles while Garver scattered 10 Chicago hits.

Newcombe had nothing but size at Shibe Park where the youthful Phils humbled Brooklyn behind Robin Roberts' seven-inning workout. Rookie second baseman Mike Goliat broke in with a perfect four-hit day and Eddie Waitkus and Gran Hamner each added three hits. It was Waitkus' first league game since he was shot at Chicago last June.

In the first night opener at St. Louis, home runs by Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial sent the Cardinals off to a flying start with a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

The battle of the big trade—New York Giants vs Boston Braves at the Polo Grounds—wound up in an 11-4 decision for Boston. Actually the key men in the most important winter trade were not important factors.

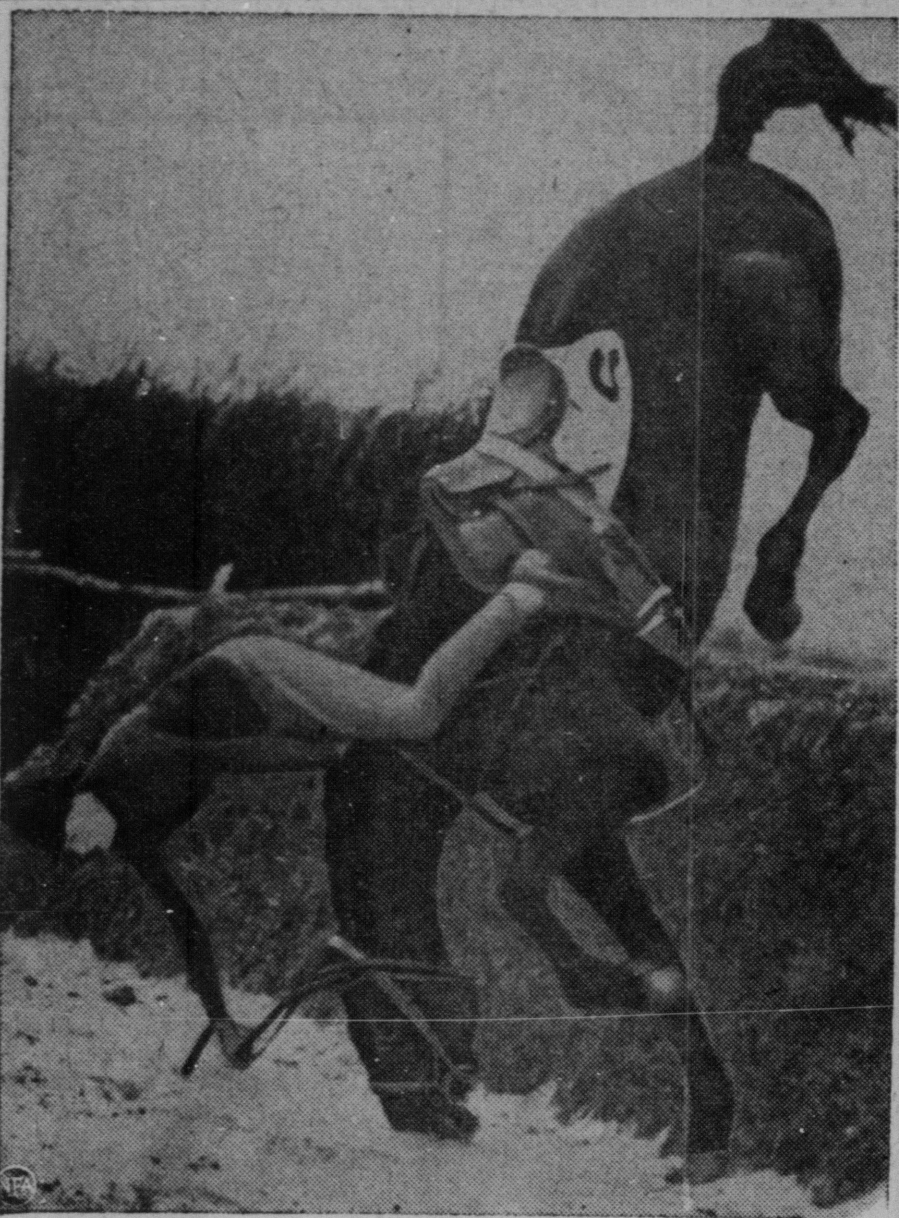

Andy Pafko rapped two homers and a double in the Chicago Cubs' 9-6 victory before 31,213 Cincinnati fans. Ken Raffensberger, six-time winner over Chicago last season, was belted out early.

Leetonia Baseball Team Opens 11-Game Slate

LEETONIA, April 19—Eleven games have been scheduled for the high school baseball team, the first of which is being played today at Louisville. Harold Wilson is the coach.

Candidates for positions on the team includes: Robert Holt, Samuel Tingle and James Aiken, pitchers; Jack Altomare, Dale Guchemand and William Jeffries, catchers; infield, Don Stoffer, Kenneth Warner, Bernard Smith, Michael Gallo, Fred Culler and Charles Carter; outfield, Robert Gibson, Willis Roller, Carl Mix, Richard Carey, Ross Justice and Robert Holt.

For the second year in succession, Syracuse University's wrestlers and boxers ruler their respective eastern tournaments.

DOUBLE-HEADER—Elizabeth Williams takes a nasty spill as Clonmel nose-dives after taking a fence in a ladies' point-to-point race at Tedihy, near Camborne, Cornwall, Eng. The rider was badly injured and hospitalized.

Infield Errors Cost Tribe Victory; Lose In 10 Innings

CLEVELAND, April 19—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians will be in the American League cellar until Saturday, at least, unless they pay the Detroit Tigers back today for a 7-6 clashing in the opener.

Righthander Early Wynn, who had an 11-7 record last season, was the Tribe hurler today against Detroit's Ted Gray, a young southpaw who won 10 and lost as many in 1949. After today,

Boosters Honor Quaker Cagers

Hear Doc Carlson At Annual Cage Banquet

One of the largest crowds in recent years attended the Boosters Club basketball banquet Tuesday night in the Memorial building. More than 280 players, coaches, and fans listened to H. C. "Doc" Carlson of the University of Pittsburgh give an inspirational talk to the Salem High cagers.

Chester L. "Chet" Smith, who served as toastmaster, covered a variety of subjects, including baseball, during his period. The Pittsburgh Press sports editor ribbed several Salemites about incidents he recalled from his early life in Salem.

The varsity and reserve basketball teams were introduced by Coach Bob Miller and the only graduate, George Reash, was presented with a gold basketball by the Boosters.

Freshman team members were introduced by Coach Frank Tarr. Also guests of the Boosters were band members and cheerleaders.

A turkey dinner was served by Joe Kelley and his staff. The committee in charge of the banquet included Leroy Green, Bob Dixon and Martin Debnar.

Television Creates Concern; Bans Noted

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP)—Television, as a keen competitor to the 50-yard line seats at the football stadiums, seems to be creating real concern.

Last fall the professional footballers sharply restricted pickup of their games to network TV relays in non-league cities. Now an important midwestern college group, the Big Ten Conference, has joined in banning TV except for 24-hour delayed newsreels.

Notre Dame, not a member of the conference, sat in at the Big Ten parley although it shortly before had signed a contract with Dumont to televise five of its games for a second year. Dumont officials said they did not anticipate the conference decision would have any effect on that contract.

Competition from television lies mainly in the fact that as a rule it gives the football fan a view of the play he could get in no other way, even with binoculars from the choicest seat in the stadium.

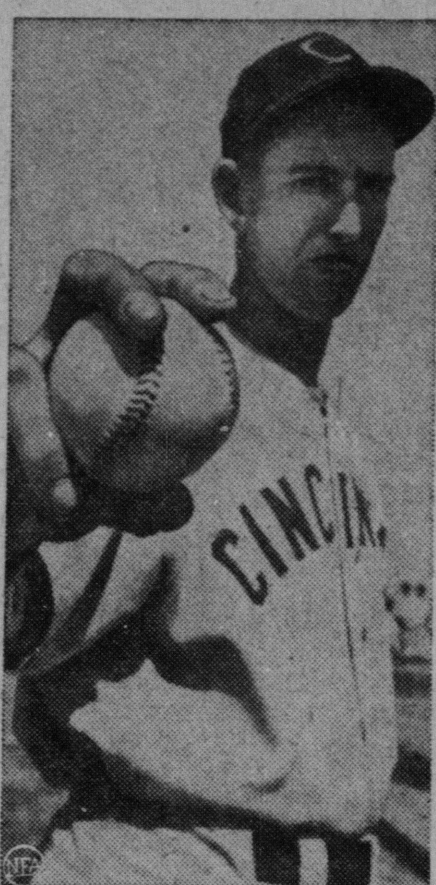

Television generally gets prime sideline position on the 50-yard line or other preferred spots, such as back of the goal lines for touchdown play. Also TV can switch from camera to camera for variety viewing. The seat holder, once put, can't move around.

BY MEANS of its lens system, TV in effect goes right down on the field for intimate closeup; so close that at times the ball itself becomes the main item in the scene.

This has led some sports experts to comment: "I can see the game better at home by television than I can from the press box—particularly intricate plays that are important factors in results."

"What's more, I don't have to worry about the weather—and some of those football Saturdays can be really wicked."

"Then, in cities with more than one station, the fan has a choice of games simply by changing channels.

The CBS plan for network broadcasts of the Brooklyn Dodgers home games on Saturdays only finally has been set. In cooperation with a sponsor they start this week with the second game of the first New York Giants series.

Altogether 12 games will be carried through September 30 to a selected network of approximately 90 coast to coast stations. The broadcast will not go to big league and minor league cities or other cities where other arrangements are in effect. Transmission will be a half-hour behind the play due to the fact air time is not until 2:30. The relay, with Red Barber and Connie Desmond, will be from tape recording.

In urging greater use of bird dogs to retrieve, game officials say 11.5 percent of the ducks shot on Utah's marsh lands are not recovered.

Syracuse University's Neil Pratt and Dick Church are IC4A one and two mile track champions, respectively.

New Leaders Marked Up In ABC Tourney

COLUMBUS, O., April 19—(AP)—Two new division leaders—in the singles and team events—were marked up on the boards of the American Bowling Congress tournament here today.

Frank Lopresti of Birmingham, Mich., 34-year-old dry cleaning firm employee competing in his sixth ABC tournament, took over the singles lead, replacing John Strobel of Milwaukee, Wis.

In the team event, Harry's Men's Wear of Norwood, O., rolling 2,938, took top spot, replacing Bill's Place, Elmira, N. Y., which had rolled 2,902.

Lopresti rolled 696—his game scores being 225, 247 and 224. In the eighth and ninth frames of the last game he was tapped, leaving the No. 10 pin and costing him a 700 series.

Behind Lopresti were: Strobel, 679; Michael Liberati, Binghamton, N. Y., 677; Walter Thoren, Brooklyn, 676; Jerome Koszycki, Buffalo, N. Y., 669; Bob Duncan, Toronto, Ont., 658; Elmer Vana, Milwaukee, 656; Otto Kurek, Decatur, Ill., 656; Karr McClintock, Macomb, Ill., 653 and Leroy Bowes, Madison, Wis., 650.

Following the Norwood team in order were: Bill's Place, Elmira, N. Y., 2802; John E. Manthey Co., Norwood, O., 2764; Manhattan Cigar Store, Lima, O., 2760; Schuman Meats, Columbus, O., 2758; Upper Ten, Cincinnati, 2755; Ainslie's "5", Johnson City, N. Y., 2749; Oriental Lanes, Milwaukee, 2742; The Terrace, Charleston, W. Va., 2730, and Frances Hotel, Chicago, 2722.

Strikes to Spare

Olive Ramsey of Salem and Anna DeJane of Washingtonville rolled into high spots in the Bowldrome Singles Classic in Struthers over the weekend.

Miss Ramsey hit a 692 actual pin score for four games, which put her in second place at the end of the week's shooting. First place is held by Dot Collier of Youngstown, with 696.

Mrs. DeJane collected a 681 set for fourth place.

Browns' Home Schedule Listed

Open With Bears, End With Philadelphia

CLEVELAND, April 19—The Cleveland Browns will open their regular championship home schedule with Tim Mara's New York Giants, Sunday afternoon October 1, and close their season with the Philadelphia Eagles here on December 3.

This season's schedule of the American Conference of the National League will bring to the lakefront stadium, the Chicago Cardinals, Pittsburgh Steelers, Washington Redskins, and San Francisco 49'ers, in addition to the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles. All of these games plus the Chicago Bear affair spell out the greatest schedule in Cleveland's football history.

The Browns will open their regular season away from home with the Philadelphia Eagles at Philadelphia's giant Municipal plant. Upward of 100,000 fans are expected for this game. A natural for the fans, it will be a tough one for the Browns. The Eagles will have better than a three week training advantage in that, since they will go to training camp that much sooner than the Browns, to prepare for the Chicago All-Star game August 11th. However, Coach Paul Brown's squad will meet the Eagles at home in the last game of the season when the Browns should be at their peak.

All games are on a home and home basis with the exception of the San Francisco 49'ers contest. The 49'ers, a member of the National Conference circuit have been selected as the Browns traditional rival and this year will appear in the home park. Next year the 49'ers meet the Browns in San Francisco.

The home schedule: September 1—Chicago Bears; October 1—New York Giants; October 15—Chicago Cardinals; October 29—Pittsburgh Steelers; November 12—San Francisco 49'ers; November 19—Washington Redskins; December 3—Philadelphia Eagles.

Hunting, Fishing

The Ohio trout season opens Saturday, April 15, but only the more optimistic fishermen will bother to wet a line.

Trout fishing in Ohio is limited to those streams which maintain temperatures of around 50 degrees. Mad river and Maccochee creek in Logan and Champaign counties have provided fair sport for the trout fishermen in past years.

The daily bag limit is six and the minimum legal length, seven inches. The season will remain open through September 16.

"ANY OHIO fisherman who fails to have himself a whale of a good time fishing in Ohio this year, had better brush up a bit on the art of catching fish." That's the word this week from E. L. Wickliff, chief of the Division of Wildlife Fish Management Section.

Wickliff stated that there are about 500 inland lakes in Ohio with a total water area of something like 86,000 acres. About a hundred of these lakes are open to liberalized fishing with no closed seasons, minimum legal lengths or bag limits. In addition, there are about 12,000 miles of streams in the state and seven streams and their tributaries are also open to liberalized fishing where anglers may fish any time and keep all they catch. Fishermen are advised to consult the 1950 law digest for the list of lakes and streams, available at license agencies throughout the state.

The state owned and controlled lakes are open to free public fishing and it is not necessary to secure permission to fish them. Streams, however, belong to the owner of the land through which the streams flow and therefore it is necessary that fishing permission be granted. Common courtesy is usually the only requirement necessary in securing permission.

For all waters in the inland fishing district, except those classified as liberalized, the closed season on black bass is from May 1 to June 15, both dates included. In the Lake Erie Fishing District comprising the waters of Lake Erie, the closed season is from May 25 to June 30, both dates included.

During the open season on black bass the daily bag limit is 6 and the minimum legal length is 10 inches.

In all waters, including the liberalized waters, there is no minimum length or closed seasons on rock bass (goggle-eye), crappie, sunfish, bluegill, catfish, yellow perch, and white bass but there is a daily limit of 20 a day on each, with a daily limit of 25 of all species, in all waters except the liberalized areas. In the Lake Erie Fishing District there is no daily bag limit on yellow perch, white bass and catfish since these are classified as commercial species.

In the inland district, only gar, carp, catfish, buffalo-fish, sheephead, and suckers may be sold. Catfish may be sold in numbers not to exceed two days' possession limit, 40, at any one time.

FISHERMEN WHO prefer to catch their own live bait were warned this week by Lester C. Bailey, chief of the Wildlife Division law enforcement section, that bait taking in state-owned and state-controlled lakes is prohibited at all times.

In the inland fishing district seining for minnows is prohibited from May 1 to June 14, both dates included, except in streams, in which the average width of water at the time seined, does not exceed twelve feet for a distance of 50 yards above and below the point seined. No minnows shall be taken or caught except with a minnow seine not exceeding four feet in depth and eight feet in length. No person at any time, in the inland fishing district, shall have in possession either alive or otherwise, more than 100 minnows; licensed dealers are excepted.

PGA Lists Program For Summer Rounds

CHICAGO, April 19—(AP)—The Professional Golfers' Association—proclaiming that "harmony and understanding" exist between the front office and its playing stars—has arranged a summer program of 19 tournaments carrying $335,000 in prizes.

President Joe Novak said three weekends still are unfilled in the potential record-breaking summer slate. If they are filled, he said, 1950 will be the PGA's greatest money-posted year—a prize aggregate of more than $530,000 anticipated for combined winter, spring and summer competition.

The summer tour opens with the $15,000 Western Open May 18 to 21 at Los Angeles. Its biggest shows are the $40,000 national PGA meet at Columbus, O., June 21-27, and George S. May's $65,000 doubleheader event at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago. The All-American championships will be played Aug. 5-8 and the "world" championship meet follows on Aug. 10-13.

TRIBE GETS PIERETTI
CHICAGO, April 19—(AP)—Sale of Pitcher Marino (Chico) Pieretti at the $10,000 waiver price to the Cleveland Indians was announced yesterday by the Chicago White Sox.

Pieretti mainly was a relief pitcher for the White Sox last year, winning four of 10 games. He played with the Washington Senators for three and one half seasons before joining the Sox in 1948.

Ohio Bell Plant Set For 'Open House'

A "backstage" view of the wonder world of communications has been arranged by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. as part of an "open house" to be held in the telephone building at 165 N. Lundy ave.

The affair is scheduled for the general public Thursday and Friday, with visiting hours from 6:30 to 9 each evening.

"The people will have an opportunity to see for themselves just how their telephone calls go through," said Carl F. Willman, Ohio Bell commercial manager.

"Telephone employees, acting as guides, will escort visitors through the exchange and explain the workings of the equipment. Special displays have been arranged. The committee in charge of the arrangements for the "open house" consists of Mr. Willman, Plant Chief Raymond Stiver, and Miss Florence Hill, assistant chief operator, the latter serving in the absence of Miss Nora Fink, chief operator.

Willman, pointing out that the telephone is an excellent barometer of the growth and development of a community, said ten years ago Salem had 3,000 telephones. Today the figure is 6,400, having more than doubled in a decade. Of the 3,400 gain, 2,250 occurred since the end of the war.

The Ohio Bell has been doing considerable expansion and improvement work in Salem, both in central office equipment and outside plant, having spent $65,000 on this activity in 1949. This year the figure is approximately $80,000.

About 33,000 local calls are made on the average day in Salem or slightly more than five calls per telephone. In addition, each day sees 4,875 long distance calls originating here.

BURNS KILL BABY

CANTON, April 19—Burns received in his crib caused the death yesterday of 18-month-old Mark Van Fossen. His mother, Mrs. John Van Fossen, also was burned by the fire. The blaze was believed to have started when the infant pulled a pin-jump from the wall and the hot bulb ignited a plastic sheet.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

YOUNGSTOWN, April 19—Two heavy cars crushed Anthony Melia, 34, of nearby Poland to death yesterday in the yards of the Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical Co.

Producers now are developing many vegetables adapted particularly for freezing.

Maragon Trial Centers On Molasses Company

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP)—The perjury trial of John Maragon, who used to flit around the White House, centered today on a molasses firm that had trouble with the Agriculture Department.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Charles Murray declined to say whether Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, presidential military aide, might be linked to the Maragon case at this point.

Vaughan was Maragon's friend at one time. And Vaughan testified to senate investigators last year that he couldn't remember for sure but that he, too, might have called the Agriculture Department on behalf of the Allied Molasses Co. of Perth Amboy, N. J.

Maragon is on trial on charges of lying about business and financial matters to the senate committee that investigated five percenters last year—the committee that quizzed Vaughan. Five percenters are persons who charge a fee, usually five percent, to handle business with the government for other people.

A four count indictment against Maragon contends he lied in telling the senators he had not "negotiated any government business" and had received no pay for doing business with the government. The prosecution says Allied Molasses is a case in point.

Grand River

stabilized river flow the Youngstown area would be handicapped in meeting demands for steel in event of war.

John J. Heard, Rock's associate counsel and one of the windup witnesses for opponents of the floodway, assailed the entire project as illegal in a statement for today's session.

Heard insisted the floodway is the army engineers' staff members who have endorsed the project.

The lawyer jibed at what he called "army contractors" who do the work authorized by the engineers and Congress and who, he asserted, are among the backers of the floodway proposal.

Heard insisted the floodway is "a slick scheme" to provide a starting point for a proposed navigation canal from the Ohio river to Lake Erie.

Weather Details

(By International News Service) Cloudy skies, a falling mercury and scattered showers combined today to give Ohioans a strong contrast to the balmy spring weather of the past few days.

Highs for the state were expected to average from the lower 40s to upper 50s followed by lows tonight between the middle or upper 30s.

But with the appearance of the cold air system from the west, the mercury threatened to topple this afternoon. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and cooler, with temperatures averaging around 15 degrees below today's.
